At Least I Knew The Truth

I was having "some" symptoms of Covid-19 from time to time. I imagined my breathing was shallow, feeling a little run down. You know the feeling.

Then I saw this sign by the Big Red Bus, "COVID-19 Antibody Testing with blood donation". So I did the reasonable thing, "I broke out in a cold sweat at the thought of giving blood", but I made my way to the door of the bus. To my surprise it was fast, easy and painless. Then I got a cookie after my donation. I went home and waited to get the results... do I have COVID-19 Antibodies in my blood?..... About 48 hours later I got my results and right at the top of the notice "No COVID-19 Antibodies" (whew). Even more amazing was the free test results told me my blood type "O+" and my cholesterol level.

All and all it was a great experience and I strongly recommend that if you can donate, go ahead and give it a try. It is a win-win-win for everyone. You become a hero by helping others with badly needed donations, you get all that info on your blood and a cookie to go.
